Cub Scout Blue & Gold Dinner

On February 26,1976, the traditional Blue and Gold dinner celebrating the birthday of scouting in the United States was held at the Memorial United Methodist Church. A patriotic theme was used both in decorating & in carrying out the program. Present at the dinner were approximately 110 persons, including the guest speaker, Mr. Watkins Abbitt, and honorary guest, Mr. Ivey Holland, both co-chairmen of the up-coming Boy Scout finance campaign in Appomattox.

As the Cub Scouts and their families arrived, they were directed to an exhibit area which contained display tables set up by each den. Decoratively displayed were posters, den doodles, skit props, and articles made by the scouts.

After a delicious potluck dinner, Mr. Haven Fields, the Cubmaster of Pack 546, introduced Mr. Robert Carter, the Pack Committee Chairman. Mr. Carter gave a short talk and then led the Cub Scouts in the Cub Scout Promise. Mr. Fields then introduced Mr. Watkins Abbitt who spoke on the Cub Scout goals for the future and who, also, commended the parents and scout leaders for their participation in the scouting program.

Dan Moon, Den Chief of Den 4, read an open letter to scouting parents titled "How Come, Dad?" which had been prepared by den mothers Mildred Thompson and Barbara Mayberry. Later in the program, Dan was presented an award of appreciation and a Cub Scout Neckerchief and pin from the leaders of Den 4.

During the month of February, all the dens spent time each week in discussing their hopes for America's future. At the dinner, a Cub Scout from each den gave a report on these goals.

In recognition of their active and dedicated participation in the scouting program, Cubmaster Haven Fields presented from the pack a lovely corsage of red carnations and a copy of the Den Mother's Prayer to den mothers Mrs. Nell Drinkard and Mrs. Bette Steinkamp of Den 1, Mrs. Barbara Mayberry and Mrs. Betty Mayberry of Den 3, Mrs. Carolyn Fields and Mrs. Mildred Thompson of Den 4, and Mrs. Betsy Carter and Mrs. Billie Carter of Den 5.

An important part of each pack meeting is the presentation of awards marking each step up in rank to each Cub Scout who has completed all the requirements. There are three ranks in Cub Scouting, Bobcat, Wolf, and Bear. Those Cub Scouts who received awards or badges at the dinner were Scott Drinkard, Timmy Garrison, Ricky Garrison, Mike Knight, Gary Long, Dennis Mayberry, Kenneth Mayberrry, Gray Nash, and Ray Phelps. Congratulations, Cub Scouts!

Each den participated in the Blue and Gold dinner program. Den 1, whose den mothers are Mrs. Nell Drinkard and Mrs. Bette Steinkamp, presented a skit based on the letters contained in the words, BLUE AND GOLD. There are seven Cub Scouts in Den 1, Scott Drinkard, Anthony Hamlett, Curtis Pearson, J. C. Rogers, Roger Steinkamp, and Kenneth Watkins who was not present.

Den 5, whose den mothers are Mrs. Billie Carter and Mrs. Betsy Carter, gave a futurist skit based on citizens band radio communications, an original skit written by Mrs. Billie Carter. There are six Cub Scouts in Den 5, Bobby Carter, F. C. Carter, Kevin Garrett, Jay Chennault, Jack Williams, and Jay Wingfield.

Den 3, whose den mothers are Mrs. Betty Mayberry and Mrs. Barbara Mayberry, held a "Flay Recipe Ceremony." While each boy recited a line of the recipe poem, cups of red, white, blue, and gold paper bits were poured into a pot and stirred.after the flag was "made", the den mothers reached into the pot and pulled out a concealed flag.

While the flag was being held aloft, three Cub Scouts from Den 4, whose den mothers are Mrs. Mildred Thompson and Mrs. Carolyn Fields, came forward. Two of the boys each recited a short piece on freedom, and after they had finished, the third Cub Scout asked the audience to stand and recite the Plege of Allegiance. There are nine Cub Scouts in Den 4, Haven Fields, Eugene Thompson, Larry Thompson, Kenneth Mayberry, Ricky Mayberry, Michael Roach, Randy Scott, Eric Moon, and Bobby Hart.

Family participation is a large part of Cub Scouting, and so it is really very encouraging to scout leaders when a planned event such as the Blue and Gold dinner is so well attended by the parents and families of each Cub Scout. And so it is that the Cubmaster and all the den mothers wish to say "Thank you" to all the parents who actively helped plan, and, yes, actually worked, to make this dinner the success it was! And spend this week with Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Moore of Pamplin.

Mrs. Dora Jean Williams, of Waynesboro, spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Roach.

Patricia Elder was among the number attending the musical festival in Petersburg over the week end.

Mrs. W. H. Elder and Joan went to Petersburg Sunday afternoon to see the musical program. The former's daughter was in it.

BY CALVIN ROBINSON

All is quiet on the Martha Street front. Nary a squeak as I looked out by the dawn's early light. Earlier I had peeped out the front door and have never seen The Big Dipper so brilliant. Are you a Star Gazer? For sure each star in The Big Dipper has its name, and I have a book someplace on the subject, but the real point is that the air over Appomattox was clean as a polished whistle as the week began and so mout it be. We are arising earlier now as the seasons "down their channels fret." Some get up early because their work shift demands they do so. Others get up early because they like an early breaskfast. Some travelers get up early so they can get in some mileage before traffic builds up. And maybe TV was dull the night before and they went to sleep early. But Spring is around the corner and a verse of No. 88 for those who get up early because it is a new day and there are things to do!

And so it was, I drove around Town. What did I see? A mass of yellow. Forsythia. Buttercups . . . yellow blossoms everywhere. And many of the forsythia shrubs have been pruned to neat round balls of georgeous display. Often I wish we had more dogwood. Virginia's state favorite, officially designated. Ah yes, and as much as anything else, I saw wild onions off to a fast growth. I have never been able to shed my yard of wild onions. I think the wild onion is a cousin to West Virginia's famous ramp. Jim Comstock, brilliant editor of The West Virginia Hillbilly weekly paper and the Richwood C. of C. have set up a Ramp Festival and will welcome many visitors. I have never eaten a ramp, but Jim says the only way to be with folks who have eaten ramps is to eat ramps, and that way you smell like they do! Heavens to Betsy.

Appomattox and Pamplin have much in common. For one thing, each Town has had several names. Pamplin was Merriman's, Pamplin City and Pamplin, and Appomattox was Nebraska, West Appomattox and Appomattox.

How proud can you be? Well, how about the owner of a senior car with a new inspection sticker.

"March winds have been on schedule. If they played football in March you would see seventy-yard field goals . . . if'n the wind was right. Our great Volunteer Firemen have rendered commendable public service.

Mrs. Shirley Griffin wrote us a nice letter from Kansas, but had to report about how dry is was and how wheat needed moisture. My little garden spot has been plowed but awaits discing and planting and I hope I'll make it, at least with some flowers and maybe, who knows, a watermelon or two. Got my seed and the onion sets are sprouting on the back porch already yet.

ACHS girls basketball team has been on the glory trail this season. A big hand for Mrs. Louise Martin, coach, and her squad.

Wrap-up . . . they are adding more sand on the beach at Holiday Lake . . . Let us have a big Clean-Up week for the Bicentennial Year . . . Kirkwood Otey, UDC, Lynchburg will visit Appomattox, in April and tour the Old Court House area . . . personal question: will my fig tree bear this year? Will my azeleas bloom one more time? Will blackbirds and Jays do us in?

Thanks for reading, and seeya next week.

Rate Increase Granted Continental Telephone Co.

Richmond - The State Corporation Commission has granted The Continental Telephone Company of Virginia $4.8 million of a $7.3 million rate increase request.

The increase will give the state's largest independent telephone company an opportunity to earn 9 per cent on its Virginia investment. The new rates are effective March 19.

Continental must revise downward its originally proposed rates and charges.

The new rates will make uniform the rates of the Continental system and consolidate seven tariffs into one.

Increases for residential phone rates will average about 25 per cent, but because of the disparity in present rates of the companies that were merged into Continental last May, there will be little change in some rates and slight reductions in others.

Private residental telephone will cost from $7.30 to $11.50 depending on the rate grouping.

Business phone rates will vary from $12.25 to $24.25 monthly.

In a companion order, the SCC directed the company to work toward upgrading the quality of its service and said the Commission's utilities division would keep close tabs on the progress of improvement.

Hearings on Continental's rate request occupied four days in September and October. During the hearing the SCC staff successfully contested a number of expense claims including non-operational expenses involving the use of airplanes, resort homes, campers and -in one instance lessons from golf pros.

These expenditures involved Continental Telephone Service Corporation of Bakersfield, California, and the company sought to apportion $96,350 of the total to Virginia rate payers.

"The Commission cannot state strongly enough its refusal to allow such inappropriate expenses," the SCC order said. "The Commission further admonished this Company that in future rate cases such expenses will not be included for rate-making purposes."

Continental, with 150,000 customers, serves a number of sections of the State in the north, northeast, southside, central and Shenandoah Valley areas. Its territory was originally served by 14 companies which were later merged into four companies -First Colony, Tidewater, Commonwealth and Continental, headquarted at Haymarket.

Westvaco Opens Office In Appomattox

In order to better serve the people and provide for the growing activities of the Cooperative Forest Management (CFM) program, Westvaco has moved its central office to historic Appomattox. The new location is more central with respect to branch office locations and provides them with a greater opportunity to become more visible in community affairs.

Located in the building on Court Street formerly known as the "Short Stop", a portion of the building includes a small forestry reference library and conference room, and new offices that serve as headquarters for the Covington mill's eastern wood procurement personnel.

Employed at Westvaco's Appomattox office with the CFM program are Andy Drezer, Supervisor, Cooperative Forest Management; Roy Cheatham, Management Forester; and Karen Knapp, Forester, Recreation Resource Management. Other employees at this office include Gerald Foltz, Eastern Division Supervisor; Dow Mongold, Area Forester; Steve Beale, Chipping Supervisor; Jim McClary, Eastern Division Timber Buyer; and Cynthia Thomas, Secretary.

They invite the people of Appomattox and the surrounding area to stop by their new location.

April 5 - 16 Set For Spring Clean-Up In Appomattox

April 5 through April 16 was designated as Spring Clean-Up in the Town of Appomattox at the regular meeting of the Town Council on Monday night.

People in the Town of Appomattox may call for special pick-up of trash, brush and debris during this two-week period. Citizens are requested to cut-up brush into four or five foot lengths so that it can be handled by town forces and that all rubbish be at the street line so that heavy trucks will not have to go onto private property.

T. E. Pittman, Resident Engineer Virginia Department of Highways, presented council with a standard agreement for the town to adopt. The agreement is necessary before the Highway Department can get the Court Street Project started.

Council could not take action on this agreement Monday night as there is a problem with the parallel parking on Court Street since no agreement has been reached with Jamerson and King Realty Company for right-of-way on the property owned by them on this street.

Due to a technicality, council had to re-file to enter into condemnation suit for acquisition of this piece of property. This action has been taken and as soon as the property has been acquired, the Court Street Project can get underway.

In conjunction with this discussion, Continental Telephone Company and Vepco representatives informed council of cost estimates for utility adjustments. The cost for adjustment for telephone utilities will be $3,268.00 and $3,788.00 for the Vepco adjustment, or 37% of the total cost, for moving poles, splicing cables, and getting them out of the right-of-way. Council agreed to the utility estimates.

Hugh (Slick) Mitchell, Addison Elder, and Freddie Godsey, volunteer members of the Appomattox Fire Department, appeared before council to request two air-packs and 3 extra cyclinders for self contained oxygen used to enter burning buildings. Council approved the purchase of one air-pack and two cylinders.

In other business, council accepted a proposal from May-Hines & Associates to do the design work for the Downtown Redevelopment-Project.

The Town of Appomattox owns a number of parking meters that were purchased and installed in the town in 1958 and taken down in 1959. They are seeking buyers for these parking meters and they possibly will be sold as collector's items. The matter was referred to the Building and Property Committee for study.

Suspects Arrested In Break-In Of Local REVCO

A second suspect has been arrested in the October 17,1975 break-in of the Revco Drug Store at Triangle Plaza Shopping Center, Appomattox.

Larry Gordon Lyle, age 34, of 514 10th Street, S.E., Roanoke was returned to Appomattox from Jacksonville, Florida last Friday by Sheriff J. E. Richardson and State Police Investigator Cliff Rhodenizer. He is being held in lieu of a $5,000.00 bond.

Wayne Dale Harmon also of Roanoke was arrested on November 17,1975 in connection with this same offense.

The third suspect, Robert Edward Hannabass, age 31, was arrested Saturday, March 6, 1976 in Midland, Texas and will be extradited back to Virginia where he will be charged in the burglary.

Appomattox Primary School

Local Teacher Participates In State Kindergarten Conference

Mrs. Carolyn Coleman, kindergarten teacher at Appomattox Primary School, was one of eleven speakers at the State Kindergarten Conference at Hotel Roanoke on March 5-6, 1976.

Mrs. Coleman, combined with the efforts of all kindergarten teachers, shared her experiences on "Kindergarten for the Advanced Child." After making this presentation, Mrs. Coleman has been invited to share the county's philosophy in teaching advanced children to a conference in Blacksburg, Virginia. The thrust of the presentation was involving creative play... an opportunity for real learning to occur by using the child's imagination. Emphasis was placed on creative language development rather than a formalized structured reading program. This provides a strong foundation for learning.

Mrs. Coleman is the wife of Dan G. Coleman, has two children, Jennifer and Robby, and has completed thirteen years of teaching K-2 in Washington State, Roanoke and Appomattox.
